

4-25-2018

HATE: Why We Should Resist It With Free Speech

New York Law School

WE ARE NEW YORK'S LAW SCHOOL

NADINE STROSSEN

Why We Should

Resist It with

Free Speech,

Not Censorship

REMARKS AND COCKTAIL RECEPTION

Wednesday, April 25, 2018

6:30 p.m.–8:30 p.m.

New York Law School

Rooftop Terrace and Lounge
185 West Broadway, New York, NY 10013

Celebrate Professor Nadine Strossen's Acclaimed New Book

In an era of high-profile debates about free speech, hate speech, and censorship, Professor Nadine Strossen brings clarity and insight to the question of how best to stamp out hate.

Her new book, HATE: Why We Should Resist It With Free Speech, Not Censorship (Oxford University Press, May 2018), has received highest praise from elected leaders, legal scholars, and civil liberties icons.

Please join us to celebrate Professor Strossen's extraordinary contributions to New York Law School and to civil society.

RSVP: www.nyls.edu/bookevent