Defendant.

The People for its bill of particulars state as follows:

1. Except defendant's request for statements made by the defendant to the police or district attorney, the People oppose all defendant's requests as being evidentiary in nature.

2. The defendant made no written or stenographic statements to the police or the district attorney. As to oral statements made by the defendant to the police, the record of the first trial in this matter held before Mr. Justice Joseph Martinis, which ended in a hung jury on June 16, 1969, contains a comprehensive review of the oral statements made by the defendant and the circumstances under which they were made. Accordingly, the People refer defendant's attorney to the trial record in answer to this request.

Yours, etc.
