Dear Judge Miner,

I greatly enjoyed your remarks in the recent issue of the American University Law Review. I also respect you for voicing your concerns because there are few individuals of your stature who have the courage to speak out on the current administration's method of selecting judicial nominees. I only hope that your efforts encourage a reexamination of the selection process.

As an aside, I am reading an interesting new book about the Supreme Court. It is "Turning Right: The Making of the Rehnquist Supreme Court" by David G. Savage. It is reminiscent of "The Brethren" and I mention it in the unlikely event that you do not already know of it.

I hope you and your wife are enjoying these summer months. I look forward to seeing the both of you soon.

Most sincerely,
Craig A. Isaacs
