

4-16-2018

The James F. Henry Speaker Series: Doing Business With Respect for Human Rights: Where Risk Management Meets Relationship Building

New York Law School

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.nyls.edu/adr_events

Recommended Citation

New York Law School, "The James F. Henry Speaker Series: Doing Business With Respect for Human Rights: Where Risk Management Meets Relationship Building" (2018). Past Events. 41. https://digitalcommons.nyls.edu/adr_events/41

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Event Posters at DigitalCommons@NYLS. It has been accepted for inclusion in Past Events by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@NYLS. For more information, please contact camille.broussard@nyls.edu, farrah.nagrampa@nyls.edu.

THE JAMES F. HENRY SPEAKER SERIES

Doing Business With Respect for Human Rights

NEW DATE

Wednesday, March 7, 2018

Monday April 16, 2018

TIME

5:30 p.m.–6:50 p.m.

Wine and cheese reception to follow.

PLACE

New York Law School
Events Center, Second Floor
185 West Broadway
New York, NY 10013

COST

General admission: $20.00

Law students: Free

RSVP

www.nyls.edu/adrRSVP

CLE

1.5 credits in Professional Practice
(NY transitional and nontransitional)

CLE Financial Aid Policy:

www.nyls.edu/cletuitionassistance

Where Risk Management Meets Relationship Building

Caroline Rees, who was closely involved in the development of the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, speaks with practitioners about the value of meaningful dialogue and robust relationships with a company's stakeholders, especially vulnerable workers and communities.

MODERATOR

Caroline Rees

President and Co-Founder, Shift

SPEAKERS

Eliza Eubank, Director of Environmental and Social Risk Management, Citigroup

Andrew Slight, Director of Global Public Policy and Government Affairs, PepsiCo

James F. Henry was the founder and longtime President of CPR Institute (International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution), a nonprofit program of several hundred corporations, law firms, government attorneys, and academics, whose mission is to develop alternatives to corporate, government, and international litigation. CPR was responsible for the "Corporate Pledge," which in the mid-1980s committed more than 4,000 companies to consider alternatives to litigation in disputes with other pledge signers. James F. Henry remains one of the most effective and influential leaders in bringing Alternative Dispute Resolution into the mainstream of American legal practice.