

3-9-2010

What Is It Like to Work in the IP Group at a Large Law Firm?

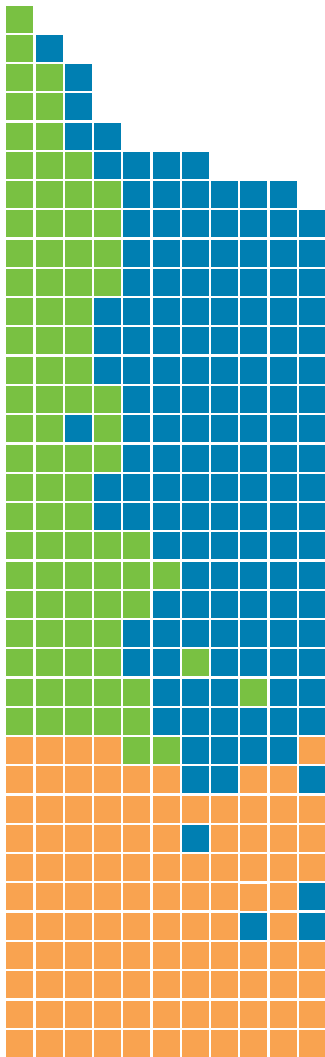

New York Law School

Institute for INFORMATION LAW & POLICY
at New York Law School

What Is It Like to Work in the IP Group at a Large Law Firm? Come discuss this and other issues with Marylee Jenkins '91.

Tuesday, March 9, 2010
12:30 p.m.–2:30 p.m.
Room W204
Lunch will be served.

A graduate of NYLS, Ms. Jenkins is a partner at Arent Fox where she heads the New York office's Intellectual Property Group. She specializes in intellectual property matters involving computers and the Internet, and counsels international companies on intellectual property disputes and strategies, portfolio enforcement and management, and e-commerce and software development and protection.

Ms. Jenkins is involved in a variety of professional associations and organizations and is an active member of the American Bar Association—currently chair-elect of its Section of Intellectual Property Law (ABA-IPL). She has held many leadership roles at the ABA, including chair of ABA-IPL's Information Technology Division and its Special Committee on Trademarks and the Internet, representative to the Intellectual Property Constituency of the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN), and member of the ABA Standing Committee on Technology and Information Systems.

A regular speaker at associations, organizations, and institutions, Ms. Jenkins has written for numerous legal publications and serves on John Marshall Law School's Intellectual Property Law Advisory Board. In addition to her J.D. from NYLS, she holds a B.S. in mechanical engineering from Columbia University, and a B.S. in physics from Centre College of Kentucky.

RSVP to Naomi Allen at naomi.allen@nyls.edu.