

2011

I Demand Proof That Trump's Hair Is His Own – And American

Brandt Goldstein
New York Law School

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.nyls.edu/fac_other_pubs

Part of the Election Law Commons

Recommended Citation

Goldstein, Brandt, "I Demand Proof That Trump's Hair Is His Own – And American" (2011). Other Publications. 204.
https://digitalcommons.nyls.edu/fac_other_pubs/204

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Faculty Scholarship at DigitalCommons@NYLS. It has been accepted for inclusion in Other Publications by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@NYLS.

THE BLOG 03/28/2011 06:05 pm ET Updated May 28, 2011

I Demand Proof That Trump's Hair Is His Own — And American

By Brandt Goldstein

Donald Trump has found his issue: Obama wasn't born in the U.S.! No matter how absurd the claim might be, Trump keeps birthin' it up, and the major news sites keep reporting it.

If the media has time to cover Trump's nonsense, surely there's also time to start asking him the Tough Questions. Topic number one: the birthplace of The Donald's "hair."

Oh, we've all made jokes about it before. It's a Carpet World remnant! An unlucky rodent! Some kind of vegetation from outer space! But it's just been fun and games. Now, Trump wants to be our Realtor-in-Chief, and we therefore have to start taking his hair seriously.

So: Sir, where did that amber pelt above your forehead come from? How long have you had it? Is it American? French? Or is it, perhaps, from... Kenya?

I want a birth certificate for Donald Trump's hair. Not the kind anyone can get by walking into the hospital/rug store. That proves nothing at all.

I won't be satisfied until I see a video of the moment Trump's hair came into being (or landed, or whatever). I demand that the video be certified by an expert from the National Archives in Washington. And that it come with supporting affidavits from the Founding Fathers. All of them.

Agree? Join me. We're The Scalpers.